IN INFANT MALADY

This Year's Victims Doubtless Will Outnumber Those of 1909.

There were during the past year 569 deaths in this country from infantil paralysis, 116 from pellagra, 55 from rabies, and 9 from leprosy, according to information just given out at the Cen sus Office.

The present year, it is believed, will show a great increase in infantile paralysis and pellagra, though a very small, if any, increase in the mortality from rabies and leprosy.

There was only one death last year in Washington from infantile paralysis, whereas Maryland reported 4; Massa chusetts, 62, of which 21 were in Bos ton; Pennsylvania, 76, of which 8 were in Philadelphia, and New York, 115, of which 84 were in New York city. This disease among children is confined almost entirely to the whites, only seventeen of the total occurring among negroes. The paralysis does not seem particularly to affect the larger cities, but is incident largely to the smaller communities. The statement of the Census Bureau states "that no statistical segregation of infantile paralysis as a cause of death has been made heretofore, but the increasing importance of the disease and its wide prevalence through-out the country in the form of local epidemics render a statement of the mortality necessary."

Speaking of pellagra, the bureau

"Pellagra is a new disease in the reliagra is a new disease in the mortality statistics. Only twenty-three deaths were reported from this cause in 1966 and no deaths from any pre-vious year except one for 1904. Such deaths undoubtedly occurred, but were not recognized, and were, consequently reported as due to other causes or as of unknown causes."

Referring to the rarer diseases includd in the epidemic group, the bureau

Says: "There are some outbreaks whose oc "There are some outbreaks whose oc-casional occurrence awakens more in-terest and popular rear than many hundreds times as many deaths from more accustomed causes. Continuing, the Census Bureau says:

"Infantile paralysis very much resembles meningitis. It has been fifficult to obtain an exact separation of the deaths from this cause and from other infectious disease. The paralysis is an acute infectious disease, chiefly affecting children in the first five years of iffice, and while not infrequently fatal, is of more serious consequence as the cause of more or less permanent paralysis of the muscles.

"Numerous outbreaks have occured in this country, the most important of which were those in Vermont, in 1894, and in New York and Connecticut, in 1997."

ZANESVILLE, Ohio, Sept. 24.-That ZANESVILLE, Ohio, Sept. 24.—That Miss Kose Christy, a sister of Howard Chandler Christy, the artist, was the person who was instrumental in bringing together Mr. and Mrs. Christy, is the authoritative report here.

The street of Howard alleged violation of the eight-hour law at the workhouse at Occoquan. Va., have reached Superintendent W. H. Whitaker.

Charges to that effect made by the Control Labor Union at its last meet-to the reunion by the fact that she still loves her husband and by her yearning for their little daughter, Natalie, but it is understood here among the intimates of the Christys that Miss Christy was directly responsible for the recent ciliation between the famous couple.

Mrs. Christy gave out a statement that the reunion is a reality, and that it was brought about by Natalie.

This happy culmination comes after months of unhappiness on the part of the couple, during which time each said some hard things about the other. The bitterness was caused principally by Mrs. Christy's fight in the tourts to secure the custody of Natalie, but the artist husband won out in the end.

Basis of Settlement.

Loray will be ing of the union Monday night.

The guards at the workhouse work twelve hours a day, and are informed of their hours of labor prior to their appointment. With the presence of 200 prisoners, the officials say it is absolutely necessary to have two two two very secure the custody of Natalie, but the artist husband won out in the end.

Basis of Settlement.

Mrs. Christy was Miss Maybelle compson, of Washington, D. C., and the National Capital she was noted or her great beauty when Christy met er. She was then sixteen years of age, and their marriage followed soon after covers probably than that of any other girl in the country.

The basis of the settlement contains the clause that the Christys will divide their time between New York and Duncan Falls. This idea was suggested by Miss Pose Christy. The artist and his bride will leave for New York within a week or so.

It was in November last that the public hecame aware of a serious break between the artist and his lovely wife. At that time Mrs. Christy, in New York, hewailed the fact that their home life, which had been idylic for eleven years, had been broken up, as she expressed it. New Style of Apparatus to

There was a lot of testifying, and the case resulted in Christy keeping possession of the little girl present plans, will be assigned motor-Christy keeping possession of the little girl.

Now the sequel to the trouble is the happiness the family is enjoying because of the reunion.

The story of the courtship of Christy in Washington is romantic. He fell in love with the beautiful girl on sight when he was introduced to her at a ball in Chevy Chase, near the National Capital. She was afraid that he loved her merely for her beauty, and for a time he feared that she loved him merely because he was a popular artist. In a few weeks, however, they got rid of these ideas, and the marriage followed. Mrs. Christy is a daughter of the late W. D. Thompson, who was in the Government service in Washington. Her brother, H. H. Thompson, is now a clerk in the Postoffice Department.

Mrs. Christy explained that in the July preceding Christy had taken the little Natalie Christy to Zanesville, Ohio. The rupture had occurred, she said, because Christian Science teachers had begun to run the Christy home, and had gone so far as to induce the artist to discharge two Catholic girls who were employed in the house as servants.

Christy replied to this with the statement that it was a case of "too much wife's family," and that he had gone to Zanesville because he liked the place, while his wife loved New York and the atmosphere of the gay town.
